KENYA LAND OF MYSTERY AND MARVELS!

Here we are with only 278 days before departure!!! Time flies ... are you ready???

We still have a few spaces left, so if you know anyone who may be interested, have them email me and I'll send the info!

Along the way, we will definitely see at least 4 of the Big Five. The Leopard may prove to be difficult since they spend their days sleeping high up in the trees! Hey! They're cats and cats can be difficult!!! The lion, on the other hand, may be easier to find than you think! The males are usually asleep under a tree while the females can be found "looking for lunch" and/or tending the cubs.

Ok, we've had a few more questions about what to expect. Well, it will be like NOTHING you expected! We won't be in dark, dense jungle ... rather we'll be in the wide, open Savannah. It won't be hot and humid. It will be hot and the sun can be very hot! Sunscreen and a hat are highly recommended. At night it gets COLD! ... and you'll be glad to have those blankets on your bed!!! Again, and I know most of you have already heard this EVERYTHING is CASUAL!

No! The food isn't going to scare you!!! The first time I went (with my friend, Carol), we didn't know what to expect so we packed tins of tuna and those cheese and cracker packets. We ended up giving them all away. You'll recognize just about everything and you WILL try something new!

Meals are buffet, so you have a choice, and every meal is full. Breakfast is NOT continental! No you get a full breakfast not just a cup of coffee and a roll! As I said, you will TRY something new - last time out I tried Crocodile and ya' know what? It does taste like chicken! LOL!!! AND, if you opt for the Balloon ride, this is what you can expect for Breakfast!

<<<< Balloon breakfast in the Bush!!!

Ah, yes, the Ellies! We'll see plenty of these, from herds to small groups to the occasional single bull. They are majestic! I always thought the bottoms of their feet were solid, but saw (up close) they are quite flexible and allow them to dig in the soil to find whatever they're looking for ... salt or foliage. The little ones are delightful as they try to emulate the adults with "practice charges" or to just annoy birds! If they get too rambunctious, Mom will put them in their place!

That's about it for this week! Keep your questions coming and don't forget to ask your friends and family if they'd like to join us!

`til next week, Kwa Heri!
