KENYA

Land of Mystery and Marvels

Sunrises and Sunsets are beautiful ... every day!

Every day begins with a beautiful sunrise ... and ends with an equally beautiful sunset. We'll see them every day and we'll take photos so we can share this beauty with our friends and family back home. Of course the photos of the animals we encounter will far surpass the scenery! :>)

Ok, so this isn't the most beautiful Cape Buffalo you've ever seen, but it may be the biggest! An adult may tip the scales at 2,000 pounds!

Or how about a 5,100 pound White
Rhino???

Will this be you???

Or will you settle for a Vervet Monkey???

BEWARE! These guys are cute and cunning! Don't leave your door open,
your tent unzipped or anything shiny where they can see it! If you do, you may have unwanted company and/or watch as your shiny new camera ends up in tree! :>)

Every day we'll be presented with photo opportunities
the likes of which you will NOT have here at home!

Shoes, pocketbook, or dinner???

They do taste like chicken!

You MUST be fully vaccinated to enter Kenya

Now that we're approaching April 1, we MUST think seriously about our plans. International travel is coming back full force, especially for travel in September, October, and November. My understanding is, as time passes, it's going to be very difficult to find air seats! As you know, many of you express desire to book your air now and use your "miles" or "points". Since we're all leaving from different cities, we should meet in London's Heathrow Airport for the final flight to Nairobi. We MUST all arrive in Nairobi on the same flight in order to be met and taken to The Stanley Hotel for our first night. If you haven't already, PLEASE let me know you'll be with us so we can get that flight number to you and you can book it! Please have the courtesy to answer. Thank you!

... AND we still need at least 6 more to join us!!! :>)

Ok, I've had MORE requests about clothing! Believe me when I tell you it's all CASUAL! Here are 2 examples:

Shorts, T-shirts, khakis, sneakers, lite jackets (for evening), that's about it! So relax! You don't have to go out and buy Safari clothes!!! :> You're here to enjoy the adventure/experience ... no need to impress! :> Remember, we still need a few more for our group!

Time is ticking away!

We're due to leave the US in 216 days, or 7 months and 2 days! :>

Keep your questions coming!

Kwa heri!

(I was asked about the photos I've taken. On my first trip to Kenya, I took over 1,000 stills and 6 hours of video!!!)
