KENYA Land of Mystery and Marvels

Will these be the first creatures to greet us in Amboseli?? It is home to numerous elephant herds! Have your cameras ready!!!! :>)

This week I received a really nice "regrets" email from a former traveler and thought I'd share it with you:

"Hi Jeanie,

As you know Michael and I will not be joining you on the trip this year. I appreciate you keeping me on the email list and really enjoy reminiscing about our Africa trip in 2012.

Please pass my message on to those still on the fence about attending, Just Do It! Life is short, Travel! It was the best trip ever and we've been to many different countries and all around the U.S. Africa was spectacular."

Gail"

Thanks Gail! Hope you and Michael will consider joining us next time! Stay tuned for upcoming treks!

I've had a number of requests re: "what shots do we need?" As of today, we only need to have proof we've been vaccinated for Covid ... So be sure to pack your vaccination card!

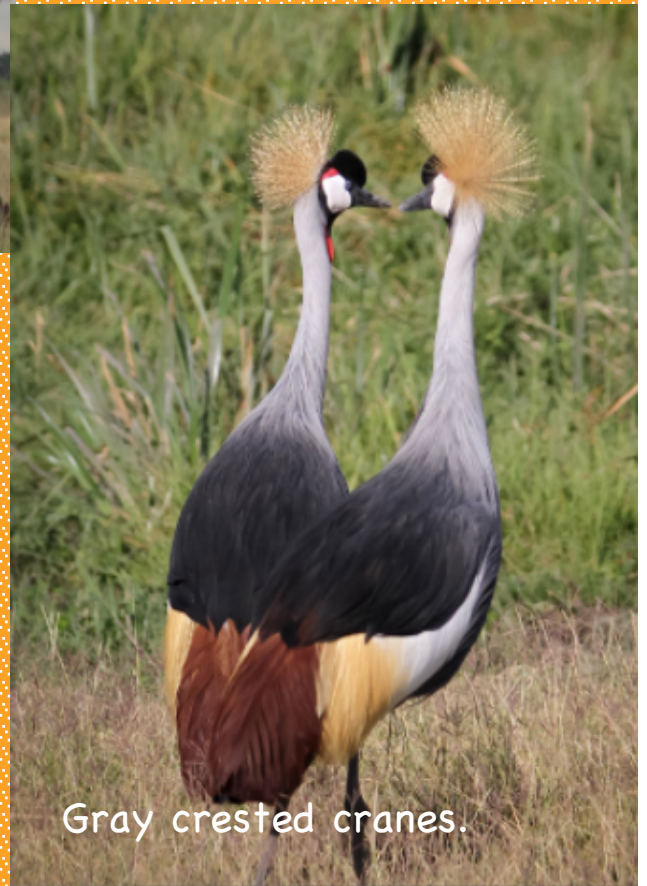

How many of you thought you'd ever have the chance to go on Safari in Africa??? Hummmmmmmmm? :>)

Here's the group of Maasai men who greeted us at Sarova Lion Hill Lodge! BTW they are the only "tribe" who don't use instruments ... just their voices.

You'll be amazed by the giraffes! Until you're up close and personal, you won't believe how big and powerful they are!!! ... also gentle, if you happen to have a handful of "giraffe kibble" (as you will at the Giraffe Centre). Just beware: Their tongues can be 18" long and they WILL get that kibble!!! LOL!!!

Gray crested cranes.

That's it for this week, but WAIT!!! I have a question for YOU! Where in the world would YOU like to go??? The Galapagos??? The UK??? South Africa??? Egypt??? A cruise up the Amazon???? Let me know!!!!

Let me have your "likes" and I'll see what I can do about getting you/us there!

Hope you all enjoyed a Happy Easter, Passover, Ramadan!

'til next week ... Kwa Heri!!! (Swahili for Good Bye)
