KENYA Land of Mystery and Marvels

Here's another amazing sunrise! Sadly, we won't get to share this in November. Due to lack of response, we have to postpone our visit to Kenya until next year. United Travel Group is currently working our new itinerary for June 2023. Meanwhile, I will continue the newsletters and keep you up to date on what's happening! :>) You can continue to enjoy the photos and information so when our new dates are ready, you will ALSO be ready! I apologize for the delay, but it will be worth it AND hopefully, some of you who had to drop out due to other commitments, health, and finances will reconsider and join us next year! :>)

Our new dates will bring us closer to “baby time”! Most of the animals have their babies in spring, so by June they’re out there learning about the land and trying to emulate their parents! If we’re lucky, we may come across “daycare” areas where, in the case of lions, we may find one or two lionesses babysitting a dozen or so cubs!

Let’s not forget the “Ellies”! They may grow up to be huge, but they do start as clumsy, little cuties!

We can see them learning their places with the adults and trying to be, oh, so grown up!

Perhaps you're more of a Zebra fan??? They all have babies and with luck, you'll have your fill!

Be it equine, feline, or whatever-ine, they'll all be out and about ... waiting to be photographed and adored. :>)

Again, I apologize for the delay ... do join us in 2023!!! You'll LOVE IT!!!

'til next week ... kwa heri!
