KENYA Land of Mystery and Marvel

Ah, Kenya! Land of the Great Migration ... there is no other wildlife event on Earth to rival this amazing drama! Herds of zebra and wildebeest, some 2 million strong, follow the rains making a grand circuit back and forth between the Serengeti in Tanzania and the Maasai Mara of Kenya. They follow the seasonal rains in search of new grasses and other "browsing" greens such as acacia trees.

Following these herds is a host of predators ... these predators ensure their survival, as well as that of the herds, by targeting the weakest members of those herds. Not pretty, but a fact of life. Between June and October this process happens every year. With luck we may be able to see and photograph a river crossing! All in all, there will be plenty of photo ops!!!

No those aren't rocks ... they're Hippos! The most dangerous animal in Africa! More people are killed by hippos, than all the other animals put together ... if you plan to swim, do so in the pool! :>)

Ok, now let me know how many of you are THINKING of joining us ... and how many are ready to pack! I know Linda and Helen are ready ... how about you? They've been waiting and waiting to go! It's time to plan for June 2023! Industry standards are telling us space is filling up quickly and flights are being limited by major airports around the world. Same goes for the properties we are to stay at in Kenya! The sooner we're able to book, the better! Just in case you weren't sure of what to expect, here are parts of 2 letters from folks who joined us in 2012:

"...Please pass my message on to those still on the fence about attending "Just do it! Life is short, Travel! It was the best trip ever and we've been to many different countries and all around the U.S. Africa was spectacular"

"Not a day, even an hour passed without the thrill of seeing and photographing animals in the wild – all kinds of animals! The driver / tour guide shared amazing knowledge about his country and animals, and skill at knowing where to find them.

The most exciting moment, even after watching female lions and cubs hanging out in the shade, was being rushed to the scene of two male lions lounging comfortably near a river. Being within a car length from the two, presumably siblings, we watched and snapped photos as they playfully tumbled with each other, completely ignoring our presence, confidently performing for us."

Wouldn't you like a photo like this one? Or even to just SEE this in person???

We never know what we'll come upon, but every chance is a chance to see something you won't see sitting at home!

YES! It is completely safe!!!

Our accommodations are quite luxurious! Even the tents! For many of you, this will be the experience of a lifetime ... one you may wish to repeat! Kenya has that type of pull on people!!! :>)

Here's a little refresher on Swahili:

Thank you = Asante

Thank you very much = Asante sana

The most important words to know! Remember, we're guests in this amazing country and represent the USA while we're there!

Hope I answered those questions that came in this week! Don't forget, you can send me your questions at
