

KENYA Land of Mystery and Marvels

It's Monday again and here we are looking at Elephants! Next to the big cats, "Ellies" are my favorites! We'll be seeing them in all their glory up close and personal! I should remind all of you, this may be your "once in a lifetime" chance to see these amazing creatures in the wild. So very many of the animals we'll be seeing are in danger of being wiped out by illegal hunting and poaching!!! Not to mention the illegal trading of wild animals ... young ones being take from their mothers either by force or by simply killing the mother! Ok, ok, not to be maudlin, let's just all go together and watch them being themselves in their natural habitat! :>)

As we get closer to our departure, I'll give you more detailed information on what to pack, do and not do, and other hints to make this trek the most enjoyable you've ever or ever will experience! Meanwhile, let's get serious about going. Non-refundable deposits will be due 01 December 2022 with final payment due 13 March 2023. Without your cooperation, we cannot confirm any space within Kenya. Remember, the more trekkers we have, the lower the price will be.

<<< will this be you???

Along the way we'll meet the Maasai ... they are the largest indigenous tribe in Kenya ... they are friendly and seem to enjoy meeting tourists! LOL!!! ... and they are almost always smiling! The jumping began as a way to check on their cattle (another long story for another time)! After meeting them, you'll understand why so many are marathon runners and winners!

We'll also see tons of Zebras!!! You can judge for yourself if they're white with black stripes or black with white stripes! :>)

AND we will all enjoy the experience of "sleeping under canvas" in the recently updated Sarova Mara Game Camp!!! These ain't no Boy Scout tents!

Every tent is completed with hot and cold running water, shower, and flush toilet!!! ... and they are Gorgeous!!!! :>)

I'll leave you this week with another beautiful sunset! Enjoy the rest of your week and remember to send your questions to me at info@RevengeTrek.com

'til next week, kwa heri! Jeanie
