KENYA

Land of Mystery and Marvels

Too cute!!!
Are you ready
to see this??? It seems there is
no "best" time
to see cubs ...
so, YES, we will see cubs. :>)

As you can guess,
the cats are my favorites!

Then again, so are the Ellies and the Giraffes, and the Vervets and ... :>)
They're all
amazing to see out where they belong and not behind bars or moats!

Last week I showed you a photo of Mike wearing a Lion's Mane headdress ... he was given that honor when we visited a Maasai village ... this is the Maasai holding the headdress before Mike put it on. If I recall correctly, this is the eldest son of the village's chief. He was our guide for this visit and even took us into his hut where we met his wife and children.

You'll notice the Maasai must ALWAYS wear something RED.

Moving right along ... those of you who have been with this from the start will notice I repeat a lot of things.

Every week we have newcomers! Yes, they can go to the website and visit all the newsletters, but some may not have the time and there are a few things that are important to remember! Things like US dollars and the fact that they will NOT be accepted if they were minted prior to 2006. They're also not fond of crumbled bills ... it's best to have crisp currency! Why? There were a lot of counterfeit bills being passed and even the smallest shop will not accept older bills! Check all your paper money before we go!

As mentioned before, we will NOT be at Ol Tukai in Amboseli. We've been upgraded to the Amboseli Serena Safari Lodge. Please feel free to Google that property! For those of you who haven't seen the photos of the properties we're staying at I encourage you to Google ALL of them! My words can't describe what you'll see! They are ALL beautiful and not what you'd expect! YES, we will have indoor plumbing!!!

We may also see an Ostrich flock or two!

Along the way we may want to use a few Swahili words. Words like Hello -

Jambo (for tourists); Lion = Simba (as if you didn't already know!); No Problem = Hakuna Matata (Yep! Just like in "the Lion King!"); Thank You = Asante; Good bye = Kwaheri. You don't have to memorize anything, you just may want to use a few words along the way ... just about everyone speaks or understands English! :>)

I'm ending this week with another beautiful sunset in Kenya!

Have a good week and be sure to send your questions along to me at jeanie6433@aol.com

`til next week! Kwa heri, Jeanie!

Don't forget to visit our website to see ALL the newsletters!
