

KENYA – Land of Mystery and Marvels

MONDAY,

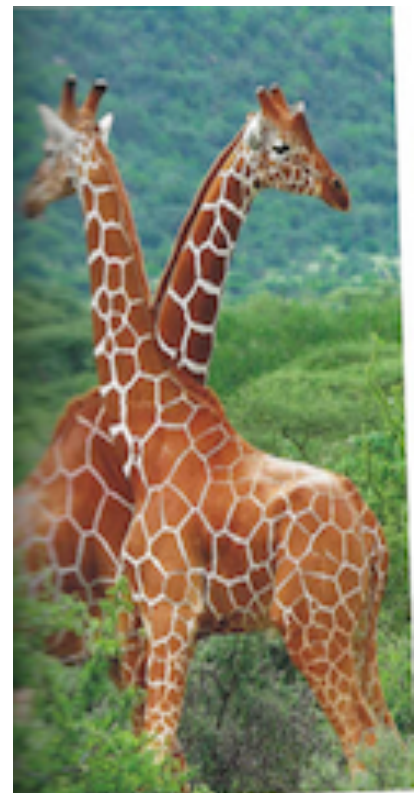

22 FEBRUARY 2021

Maasai men began jumping as a means to survey their cattle. They believe all the cattle in the world belongs to them! This has caused some problems, as you can imagine!

I'd love to get some feedback from you guys ...
What would you like to know about (besides the price!)? What might be of interest?
The Food?
The Animals?
The Culture?
What Clothes to pack?
The Accommodations?
The Money? Ask and I'll

As of today, we don't know what vaccines may be needed. The last time I went the only meds required were malaria pills. No, we won't be out slogging through the mud, and NO, we did not have any interaction with any bugs! It was strictly a precaution. I do advise keeping your tetanus up < Mom and the kids!

KENYA – Land of Mystery and Marvels

Monday, 22 February

How about a language lesson???

While most Kenyans speak English, the native tongue is Zwahili.

Hello = Jambo

Hello, how are you? = Halo habari yako?

Please = Tafahali

Thank you = Asante

... my favorite, no problem = hakuna matata or hakuna shida

... and

I'd like to buy that. = Ningependa kununua hiyo.

How much does it cost? = Inagharimu kiasi gani?

Believe me, you probably won't have to use those last 2! Everyone understand the Dollar!!! :-)

(Safari = Journey)

If you have any questions or want more information, please feel free to email me. In order to qualify for a group rate, we will need 16 participants. The biggest question you all have is “what will this cost?” We won't have those numbers until the end of this year because the people who were booked to travel last year have been pushed forward to this year and so on and so on. The more people who join us, the lower the rate will be so if you have friends you think might be interested, have them email me so they can be kept up to date!

Jeanie6433@aol.com